Department of Practice of Medicine from A. M. Shaikh Homoeopathic Medical college and PG research centre Belagavi with NSS unit collaborated with Gram Panchayat Kadoli, institutional adapted village, celebrated Vanamahotsav day with the Creating awareness among people towards the conservation of forests and plantation of trees with theme “ Ek Paudha Maa ke Naam” is like to plant a tree in the name of our own beloved mother, alive or death and serve as if she is, and in inverse, as mother looks after her children, we are also to look after the seedling to survive.

We planted native trees as they readily get adapted to the local conditions, integrate into eco-systems and have a high survival rate. These trees are helpful in supporting local birds; insects and animals as well during this period have a greater survival rate than those planted during other months.

The awareness programme about “ Ek Paudha Maa ke Naam” was organized by department of practice of Medicine. Dr. Jyothi Vijaykumar, Dr. Irshad with the support of Management, Director and Principal.
